

PRESERVATION MANAGEMENT OF LEGACY MACHINE-BASED AUDIO AND VIDEO COLLECTIONS

Presented by the
New Mexico Historical Records Advisory Board and the NM State Records Center and Archives

Workshop Description

This workshop is an intensive, basic training, short course for persons and institutions that have curatorial responsibilities for collections dependent on legacy machine-based audio/video media. The curriculum will deal with audio/video concepts, terminology, technologies, basic conservation and preservation methods, storage considerations, and equipment needs. Attendees are encouraged to bring in examples (or pictures) of problem recording media or unusual equipment that they are challenged with for a "Stump the Expert" session.

When: Part 1: 1:00pm to 5:00pm, Wednesday, April 7, 2010
Part 2: 8:30 am to 12 Noon, Thursday, April 8, 2010

Where: New Mexico State Records Center and Archives
Room 2027, 1209 Camino Carlos Rey
Santa Fe, New Mexico

Fee: $10.00

Who: Archive, library and historical society administrators, oral historians, archivists, broadcasting and media librarians, conservators, stock footage collections staff and preservation managers as well as film, audio and video laboratory managers.

Presenter: Alan Lewis, retired AV preservation manager at the National Archives and Records Administration

Mr. Lewis has worked for a variety of television news organizations, including the Public Broadcasting Service in Washington D.C. where he served as Supervisor of Acquisitions for its Public Television Library and was later named its Director. In 1983, he moved to CBS News in New York as Director of the Film and Videotape Archives. He returned to Washington D.C. in 1991 where he served as Subject Area Expert - Audiovisual Preservation in the Special Media Archives Services Division of the National Archives and Records Administration. He retired in January 2005 and resumed private preservation management consulting.

To register or obtain more information please contact Antoinette Solano at 505-476-7902 or antoinettel.solano@state.nm.us. You may also register on-line at www.nmcpr.state.nm.us/training/trainingschedule.asp.

Funding for this workshop made possible through the National Historical Publications and Records Commission