About the Regrant Program

The NMHRAB administers a regrant program to improve preservation and access to New Mexico's historical records. Awards are made annually and range from $500 to $8,500.

Eligible entities include:

- State agencies
- Local and tribal governments
- Non-profit organizations
- Public schools and public colleges and universities

Funding priorities:

1. Preservation — projects that mitigate unstable or deteriorating conditions of historical records
2. Access — projects that promote the availability of historical records
3. Training — programs that focus on developing best practices in archival and records management
